Illinois Community College Board (ICCB) – See ICCB website for current personnel and contact information

The Illinois Community College Board, as the state coordinating board for community colleges, administers the Public Community College Act in a manner that maximizes the ability of the community colleges to serve their communities. As an integral part of the state's system of higher education, community colleges are committed to providing high-quality, accessible, cost-effective educational opportunities for the individuals and communities they serve. ICCB offices are located in Springfield, Chicago, and Herrin.

In 1965, the Illinois General Assembly established the Illinois Community College Board to create a system of public community colleges that would be within easy reach of every resident. Forty years later, the Illinois Community College System covers the entire state with 48 colleges and one multi-community college center in 39 community college districts. Community colleges serve nearly one million Illinois residents each year in credit and noncredit courses and many more through their public service programs.

Community colleges are similar to each other and yet each college is unique. While this may appear to be a contradiction, it is not. Illinois community colleges share a common mission. They prepare people for college, for transfer to other colleges or universities, and for good paying jobs that demand high skills. Community colleges also provide adult, literacy, and continuing education and services. What makes each college unique is how the college responds to the communities it serves. The Illinois Community College System is coordinated by the Illinois Community College Board comprised of citizens appointed by the Governor. Locally elected boards of trustees* set policies that guide their colleges in achieving local and statewide goals. Within the System, organized groups represent students, faculty, trustees, staff, administrators, and college presidents, and all of these groups are actively involved in the decision-making process for the System. Colleges meet both local and statewide needs for education and workforce development through high-quality, affordable, accessible, and cost-effective programs and services.

*The Board of Trustees of the City Colleges of Chicago is appointed by the Mayor of Chicago

STUDENT SERVICES COMMISSION

Mission

The mission of the Student Services Commission is to serve the common interests of Student Services/Student Development of Illinois public community colleges; to promote dialogue among Community College Administrators on issues of student development; to provide leadership in promoting valuable student programs and services in community colleges throughout the state; to offer timely staff development activities for student service administrators; and to maintain dialogues and partnerships with other commissions and divisions of the ICCCA.

Goals

1. Maintain communication between the Student Service Commission and the Illinois Council of Public Community College Presidents through periodic informational meetings with the Presidents' liaison to the Student Service Committee, and the officers of the Commission.
 2. Sponsor a Spring Conference for chief student services officers and staff to promote information exchange, networking and professional development.
 3. Assist the Illinois Council of Public Community College Presidents upon request.

Copied from Student Services Commission – Meeting Minutes – February 26-27, 1998

Discussion was held regarding the advocacy role of Chief Student Affairs Officers. There was discussion that the Chief Academic Officers had formed a group separate from the Instructional Services Commission after IAI discussion began and a suggestion that the Chief Student Affairs Officers consider doing the same thing. One CSAO indicated that when the Student Services Commission became more diverse in its membership, the impact of CSAOs was lost. A working group of CSAOs was identified to meet to develop a plan and report back at the November meeting.

Copied from Student Services Commission – Meeting Minutes – November 19, 1998

Minutes noted that Commission Officers are on a three-year rotating schedule with the Secretary/Treasurer moving to the Vice President position and the Vice President moving to the President position. Nominations for Secretary/Treasurer were accepted at the November meeting.

A working group of Chief Student Services Officers who had been meeting since February 1998 presented that at one time the Student Services Commission was only composed of CSSOs. In order to be more inclusive, the CSSOs had opened the meeting up to anyone in student services. Although more inclusive, the CSSOs lost their identity and thus their capability to have any influence as a group within the state. The working group presented the following recommendations that had been approved by the ICCCSSO group:

Drafted on November 16, 2009; Updated on November 15, 2011; Updated on June 24, 2014.

- 1) Establish the Illinois Community College Chief Student Services Officers (ICCCSSO) and convene as a group separate from the Student Services Commission.
- 2) The current Student Services Commission officers serve as officers for ICCCSSO.
- 3) ICCCSSO will meet four times per year: the day before ICCCA's fall conference; the Thursday morning of the Spring Commission meeting with a follow-up on Friday after regular adjournment; and a date in late May.

A motion was approved that the ICCCSSO group would be recognized as a sub-group of the ICCCA Student Services Commission.

Other recommendations of the workgroup presented included:

- 1) Select primary agenda items for the year which complement those identified by the President's Council.
- 2) Invite ICCB, ICCTA and President's Council representatives to the Thursday afternoon Spring Commission meeting.
- 3) Invite ICCB Director of Academic and Student Services to ICCCSSO and Commission meetings.
- 4) Designate ICCCSSO representatives to attend key statewide events such as the President's Council, ICCB, and ISAC.

Copied from Illinois Community Colleges Chief Academic Officers – Meeting Minutes – February 22, 2001

Motion approved to rename the Student Services Commission the Chief Student Services Officers Commission and to indicate in the ICCCA Handbook that the commission holds three meetings per year.

The minutes reflect discussion regarding past confusion over having separate meetings for ICCCSSO and the larger, more inclusive Student Services Commission and recommendations for structure of future meetings. There were suggestions that the chief student services officers meet the first day and then invite the larger student services group for the second day of each meeting. No motions were noted and no action was taken.

Facts About Illinois Community Colleges

Taken from Illinois Community College Council of Presidents Manual, November 2009

- The first community college in the nation was established in Illinois – Joliet Junior College – in 1901.
- Illinois is the 3rd largest community college system in the nation.
- 39 community college districts, which contain 48 community colleges statewide, serve the diverse needs of Illinois' adult population.
- The average community college full-time student pays only $3,100 per year in tuition and fees.
- Community colleges offer training in over 240 different occupations.
- Almost three-fourths of the occupational program graduates are employed in the community college district where they are trained.
- Community colleges helped to create and retain over 135,000 Illinois jobs in the last five years through economic development initiatives.
- Of all postsecondary sectors, community colleges enroll by far the highest proportion of low-income youths, particularly from urban centers; the highest proportion of legal immigrants seeking to develop their skills and expand their opportunities; and the highest proportion of minority groups who are under represented both at middle-and upper income levels and in good jobs with career opportunities. Heading off the spread of poverty among these groups and reversing the growing disparity of wealth and income are among the most important tasks facing our nation. Community colleges are one of the keys to meeting these challenges.
- Community colleges are taking on the huge task of “re-skilling” America’s work force by helping literally millions of working adults develop higher levels of basic and technical skills. Success in this unprecedented challenge is essential if America’s workers are to earn good wages and if their employers are to compete in demanding world markets.
- Community colleges account for 65 percent of all undergraduate students enrolled in Illinois public high education. Community colleges are the primary provider of the higher education experience in Illinois.
- Nearly one out of every 11 Illinois citizens attends an Illinois community college. The average age of community college students is 30 years of age.
- Nearly two-thirds of all minorities in public higher education attend community colleges, in early 11,000 students with disabilities and 38,000 students with limited English proficiency are served annually.
- The Illinois community college system is the primary provider of workforce preparation in Illinois.
- Nine out of ten Illinois community college graduates live, work and raise their families in Illinois.
