Carl Sanburg CC	Both	Free	Yes		We only print a few desk copies of the course schedule
City College of Chicago	Electronic		Yes
Danville CC	Electronic		Yes		Danville Area Community College asks students to view our Student Handbook online. However, we do print a few for students who ask for it. I don't know why (ha ha), but most students do not ask for a printed copy. And, yes, we do print a course schedule too. We have one for students on campus (done through our graphics department...nothing fancy) and one that is mailed out to our district residents. We try to direct students to our online versions, but some just love paper!
DuPage CC	Electronic		Yes		Schedules: Yes, we print far fewer copies than in the past and still mail some to residents
Elgin CC	Print	Free	No		It is available on the Web...we can show added courses this way. We do mail a postcard to continuing students reminding them to check on line and to register using their priority registration.
Harper CC	Both	Free	No	Both	At Harper we have a printed Student Handbook/Catalog and of course on-line, too. The printed ones are available free of charge. We have not printed course schedules in over 5 years if my memory serves me correctly. CE prints their schedule but credit courses are on-line only.

Oakton CC	Both	Free	Yes
Parkland CC	Both	Free	Yes		We still print the Student Policies & Procedures Manual (handbook) and the class schedules. We visit the issue of the printed class schedules every year, it seems, but so far, there has been resistance to changing current practices. We don't hand out the printed student handbook to everyone. We print them and hand them out when we're meeting with students about specific issues -- such as conduct problems -- but for most students, they're referred to the online version. When we do hand them out, we don't charge for them.
